CITY HAS FINE NEW CLEANING AND PRESSING EQUIPMENT

Exclusive Company Installs Battery of Newest and Latest Cleaning Machines

Expansion seems to be the watchword for the proprietors of the Exclusive Dry Cleaning and Pressing Company, located at 321 Esterbrook street, Bay St. Louis.

Expansion means for them more and better equipment, quicker and more satisfactory way of doing work, and, above all, in a manner that not only means service but the maximum of satisfaction to the customer, no matter how exacting or fastidious he or she may be in their tastes and wants.

The Exclusive Dry Cleaning and Pressing Company's business is owned by two Bay St. Louis men, Walter J. Bontemps and Dan LaFontaine, who are giving the work their own personal attention. Not only leaves the shop unless it is inspected and only passes money after a strict test. "Our customers are particular," said one member of the firm, "and we are just as particular to see that our work is of the very best. We want no come backs. We have quite an investment and we are in business to stay. We only ask a fair trial."

EARLY MORNING FIRE DESTROYS BOURGEOIS BAKERY, MAIN ST.

Fire of Unknown Origin Guts Out Building—Fire Department Responded Promptly.

Private Night Watchman, Philip J. Schieb discovered the roof of the Bourgeois Bakery, Main street, on fire about 2 o'clock Friday morning of last week, and at once woke up the people of the immediate neighborhood and sent in the fire alarm.

The city's engine and fire-fighting paraphernalia was quick to respond and did splendid work by confining the fire to practically within the confines of the building, which was of frame and corrugated iron roofing. There was plenty of water, high pressure hose, etc., and the engine performed to full efficiency.

The building was owned by W. L. Bourgeois, who, with his son, Douglas, operated a cake bakery. It appears the last fire used in the oven was during the late afternoon and at 8 o'clock when the place was closed for the evening, there was no sign of fire anywhere. It is apparent the fire was in the making throughout the night and declared itself during the early morning hours. Mr. Bourgeois said there was no electric wires where the fire was discovered.

The building had expired some time since when it was cancelled. It was the only piece of the several properties owned by Mr. Bourgeois that was not insured.

He estimates his damage at over $2,000.00. The equipment was irreparably ruined, the dough mixer burnt out.

CHILD EATS LYE, DEATH FOLLOWS

Clarence Randolph, Jr., Succumbs from Results of Drinking Liquid Lye.

Clarence Randolph, Jr., 18-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Randolph, died Friday night, 11 o'clock, at the King's Daughters Emergency Hospital here suffering untold agonies as a result of drinking liquid lye about 10 o'clock Friday morning. The mother of the child had opened a can of lye, left it open to the air causing it to liquify, had poured the lye into a bottle, without diluting it. She was preparing the lye for the use of her mother-in-law to use in washing clothes and was taking the lye out to the wash place in the yard and set the bottle down. She heard a sound from the baby and turning around saw the child holding out the bottle to her. He had already drunk some of the lye.

Mrs. Randolph hailed a passing car rushing the child to the hospital where Drs. D. H. Ward and A. P. Smith pumped his stomach out several times but were unable to relieve the burns of the lye which caused the child great suffering. "I never saw worse burns from lye," Dr. Ward said in discussing the condition. In the afternoon Dr. Kotz Allen performed an operation in an effort to relieve the child of part of its suffering. He died at 11 o'clock.

Funeral services for the child were held at Porterville Saturday afternoon where he was taken for burial.

W. B. A. HAS BIRTHDAY MEETING

Local Ladies Lodge Holds Pleasant Dinner Meeting At Weston Wednesday Night.

The Bay St. Louis Review of Women's Benefit Association held a pleasant birthday party Wednesday night of last week at the Hotel Weston when the lodge membership gathered for a delightful birthday dinner. Mrs. Pearl Croy of Birmingham, district regional director, was present as the guest of honor and her fine talk on the good of the order, its development and advancement, was a feature of the meeting.

The dining table was prettily dressed for the evening with American beauty roses and plumosa fern used in decoration. Forty-two places were laid, each marked with a rose bud, filled with mints as favors.

Charming bit of fun at the dinner was the cutting of the birthday cake. The "cake" beautifully embossed and topped with 18 candles, proved when it attempted to be cut by Mrs. Fay Arguillas of Biloxi, district deputy, to be a pan covered with embossed decoration, which when removed showed dainty individual cakes for everyone beneath the pan.

An unusually pleasant program was arranged for the meeting. Besides the address by Mrs. Croy the program included: Reading, She Powders Her Nose, Miss Mathilde Ladner; variety dance, Josie Scalfide, wearing a lovely costume of gold and accompanied by Miss Levia Engman at the piano; dance and song by Eran LeBlanc wearing a costume of black and white, and accompanied at the piano by Miss Leonie Gilbert; two songs with banjo accompaniment, Miss Leonie Gilbert. Short talks were made by Mrs. Arguillas, Mrs. Leo Murtagh, president of the local lodge and Miss Miriam Engman, recording secretary.

The annual birthday dinner was preceded by an initiation meeting Tuesday night at which four candidates were initiated and at which Mrs. Croy was guest.

STIRRING NIGHT LIFE DRAMA FOR A. & G. THEATRE

"Speakeasy" to be Presented Sunday and Monday Nights—100 Per Cent Talkie.

The great thrill film, "Speakeasy," 100 per cent talkie, coming to the Bay St. Louis A. & G. Theatre Sunday and Monday nights, is one of the newest and biggest productions of current time, now given its premier at Roxy's, New York, and to be presented in Bay St. Louis before anywhere else in the South.

It is a most unusual arrangement that brings it to this city. The very latest in improved talkie and sound will be heard.

New York's night life, so long featured in plays and fiction form an integral part of the narrative related in "Speakeasy," Fox Movietone adaptation of the celebrated stage success of the same name.

Many of the dramatic highlights of the production occur in one of the great city's famous basement "speakeasies," a new institution made famous during the last few years. It is here that Fox Movietone enhances the silent drama by its ability to record clearly the glamorous hubbalooboo so important to the correct picturization of one of these nationally known gathering places.

The director spent several weeks in New York filming scenes for "Speakeasy," which brings to the screen two popular stage favorites in the personalities of Lola Lane and Paul Page. Henry B. Walthall, a Bay St. Louis favorite, Helen Ware, Stuart Erwin, Sharon Lynn, Erville Alderson, Warren Hymer and James Guilfoyle are cast in strong roles in this talkie production.

EDWARDS INSTALLS EQUIPMENT

About $3,500 New Machinery and Equipment for Working on Ford Cars Is In Use.

The Edwards Bros. Motor Company of which Louis J. Norman is executive manager, local dealer in Fords and Lincolns, has recently completed the installation of a full new machine shop and is fully equipped to do all types of work on the new model A Ford as well as on the former model T cars. The new equipment including the installation of the machinery in the machine shop, the automatic lifter for cars, the new steel bins in the stock room for the care of parts, and the remodeling of the battery shop, cost approximately $3,500. This new equipment has placed the repair shop in the first rank class in efficiency.

The new machinery was installed by E. P. Arceneaux, service manager, assisted by the local force at the shop. Mr. Arceneaux attended a demonstration of placing in use this "little factory" in New Orleans and from the information sent out from the factory, the installation work was done.

The new machinery includes a combination reborer and regrinding machine for cylinders; a valve machine on which valves for any model may be ground; and which is kept adjusted by using a diamond; a drill press, emery wheels, rear axle stand to take care of all troubles in the rear end of an auto; arbor press to straighten axles and line up crank shafts, a rebarbittng machine for connecting rods and pistons, motor stands for assembling motors. In a glass case are found all tools necessary to overhaul the new model A and the old model T Fords.

This machinery is set off by rail from the rest of the shop.

All the old equipment formerly used for repair work has been junked. The total floor space of the repair shop is 7400 sq. ft., while the shop for parking and washing machines is 7200 sq. ft., giving a total of about 15,000 sq. ft. for use. "We have built our repair shop space to take care of all increase in business, looking forward to the future growth of the business in auto repair in this section," Mr. Arceneaux pointed out.

The battery department has been remodelled. A new battery bench has been built by Mr. Arceneaux from a design which he made and which is not only easy of access but easy to keep clean, and on which 20 batteries can be charged at one time. Eight hour charging service is maintained. Mr. Arceneaux set a photo of the bench to the Marshall System of Electric batteries, who supplied the generator for the charging and the bench has been approved by this company. A new voltmeter and the latest testing equipment has been installed.

The automatic car lifter for use in greasing cars and repairing and relining brakes for cars of all makes, was installed last week and is an efficient assistant in giving good service in this line of work. The full equipment for greasing cars is operated by air pressure.

The entire repair shop at the garage is unusually clean and well kept with none of the accumulation usually found in a garage. The roof over the repair shop is of the saw tooth variety and allows for a maximum of light and air. The floor of the shop is lined off for parking individual cars and each mechanic has been allotted certain floor space and has his own locker for keeping his tools.

Besides Mr. Arceneaux, the service manager, there are three mechanics, one battery man, one porter and one car washer, employed in the machine shop.

In the stock room there has been installed all steel bins for carrying of all parts, replacing the wooden bins. There are new steel fixtures for the tires.

She is the worthy matron of the Bay St. Louis Chapter No. 129, and goes as its representative. They will return to the coast Friday.

After a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Frank Gutterrez, Saturday afternoon, 5 o'clock, Henry Winson, Red Simmons and Horace Seals of Bogalusa, La., charged with the murder of Philip Peterson were remanded to jail to await action of the grand jury in September.

The three men, who are alleged to have slain Peterson at his home north of Fenton Wednesday of last week, were taken from Gulfport, where they were taken Friday night for safe-keeping.

Testimony at the hearing, which attracted a crowd that overflowed the main auditorium of the courthouse, brought out that Peterson's wife took no part in the argument or the scuffle that resulted in the killing of her husband. The altercation that preceded the killing, arose it was testified, over the price which Peterson demanded for liquor in his possession. The trio refused to pay the price demanded and Seals, the prosecution charges, shot Peterson. The men then seized the bulk of the liquor, loaded it into their automobile and drove to Bogalusa, where they were apprehended by Sheriff Joseph Jones and deputies.

All three defendants, represented by attorneys, pleaded not guilty to the charge of murder. County Attorney E. J. Gex was assisted in presenting the state case by City Attorney Robert L. Gennin.

After the hearing the three men were returned to jail at Gulfport and afterwards were sent to Jackson, where Sheriff Jones has arranged to keep them until the grand jury meets.

ADVOCATES NEWS PAPER SPACE

It is interesting to report that Mr. J. C. McQuiston, advertising manager of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, is a firm believer in newspaper advertising. At a recent conference of some of his salesmen he outlined a program providing for three times the usual amount of space.

In explaining the use of newspapers for the major part of the Westinghouse advertising plan, in which he hopes to cultivate the public mind to becoming "electrical minded," Mr. McQuiston brought out the following significant advantages that only newspapers possess for advertising.

First, they possess the advantage of intimacy, giving the advertiser a local identity in each community where advertising appears. Then they have the greatest flexibility, allowing the advertiser to place his copy when climatic conditions are right, when business is good and when buying habits dictate.

They also give the manufacturer a chance to tell the public the advantages of the local utility to community life. They allow the advertiser to localize his advertising and at the same time nationalize it by using the same copy in all cities and towns simultaneously. Finally newspaper advertising permits one to check directly the results of his advertising and to secure the full support of the field selling organization for it becomes very definitely the local advertising of the field for.

"Our plans provide for the insertion of more than 20,000 newspaper advertisements in more than 500 cities of the United States, many of them in large space units than we have been employing," he said. "Rotogravure will be used extensively."

"This advertising will not only include many of our apparatus lines but a substantial idea and provide a background for thousands of other advertisements in the general, business and trade, financial, farm and college magazines; the program as a whole embracing practically every type of publication whose readers are interested in our activities."

NEW ROADWAY FOR THIS SUMMER

Completion of the twelve-mile drive hard-surfaced driveway skirting Hancock county's coast line, embracing all that section from Bayou La-dorse to Bayou Cadet, will be put to a test as an asset for the Bay-Waveland district this summer and we are quite anxious to see to what extent it will develop.

Bay-Waveland is the idea summer resort section of the Mississippi Gulf coast, its close proximity to New Orleans for one thing the outstanding factor. Heretofore, possibly over a period of fifteen years, this driveway, skirting the very edge of the water, has been in disuse, caused by warring elements of wind and wave. Since then the automobile has come into everybody's life, and place somewhere to ride is uppermost in mind.

We know of no invitation more interesting than the Bay-Waveland-Lake Shore drive and thousands of visitors who would not otherwise visit and linger will fall for the lure of the drives on the Coast, and this section in particular.

We shall never have reason to forget the Board of Supervisors and Board of Road Commissioners for this splendid piece of constructive work. It required the Board in united action to carryout such enterprise. No one town or community could have accomplished such results. Someone has said the work is worth five times its actual cost. In betterment we find no ratio for comparison. We feel as time will have progressed, the building of this long stretch of permanent seawall and sweep of hard-surfaced road will have accelerated in manifold value.

IS DEGENERACY IN THE SADDLE

A killing in this county last week of a young husband and father, a citizen of Hancock, by men to whom he had extended the hospitality of his table, as a result of unlawful liquor, is one of the many crimes of like manner that newspapers are filled with daily, as reports come from over the entire section of the country. No one place seems immune from this sort of thing.

While this newspaper is not opposed to a consistent prohibition, modified, if you please, yet since the advent of our so-called prohibition laws, we have filled our jails with more bandits, gangsters, rum-sellers and the like; our court records piled high with crime and attendant suffering, and, worst than all, instead of abating, violations, the number of criminals and hypocrites grow in alarming number.

Young Peterson would be alive today, the protector of a good woman, and guardian of their child, and safeguard of his home, were it not for illicit liquor, and must be of the most inferior quality. This is one of the ills of faulty prohibition.

Failure to properly enforce a law, like Banquo's ghost, will not down, has wrecked more homes, more lives, orphaned more children and made the nation, in part, one of lying, sinking hypocrites.

No one will dare ask, where will this end. Naturally one shrinks back in horror. A prohibition that does not prohibit is going to continue exacting awful toll, in lives, decency and general morals. Degeneracy seems to be in the saddle with prohibition.

An amusement-loving people is a healthy sign. Why go business-mad at the expense of our minds and bodies? Relaxation, recreation and amusement mean better thinking, better living, and—longer life.

STRAWBERRIES AND ORGANIZATION BRING WEALTH

Every year about this time we are thrilled with figures of shipments and cash receipts from the Hammond-Ponchartraine strawberry section. After a total receipt of $4,000,000 cash paid in hand before the berry trains pull out for their destination, we were told last year that this year's effort would be increased and receipts correspondingly augmented.

The crop of this luscious berry this year is reported without precedent. Just what high water mark will have been reached at the end of the season is not definitely known, but knowing ones and official estimators say it will exceed all previous crops.

This is good for Louisiana and particularly for that section so near the Mississippi section. Figuratively speaking, we of the Mississippi Gulf Coast are within a stone's throw, and just why we have never entered upon the growing of strawberries to any appreciable scale has never been revealed.

Surely we can grow and mature the strawberry two weeks earlier. This has been demonstrated time and again and is an accepted fact. But lack of concerted action, organization, is responsible for many failures.

For instance, the Mississippi Gulf Coast grows the finest pecan; large, full of meat, best flavor, and of the most resilient shell, second to none. Size and quality should command highest prices, but for lack of organization the crop is bootlegged promiscuously; no status of quality and prices is established and each grower is forced out in a cut-price market and sells at practically no profit.

Some few years since a delegation of citizens from this section, headed by the county agent, journeyed to the Louisiana strawberry section, spent two days and as far as possible made an exhaustive investigation, compared that section with this and the finding was all in favor of the coast. It was demonstrated we could grow berries as well. Our soil, climate, rainfall, etc., was favorable and every element entering into the work of planting and cultivation. But lack of organization is responsible for many failures.

Where would the fruit and nut growers of California be without their growers' association? We hope the time is not far off when the pecan growers of the Gulf Coast will get together and be able to market crops to advantage. It would mean in the last analysis more money in circulation and, consequently, added prosperity.

Possibly we might yet grow strawberries in this section and add to the four-million dollar wealth which drops as if from heaven into the midst of our neighbors. May their prosperity increase each year. We do not begrudge one cent of it, only we wish to add.

FIGURES THAT STAGGER

Strictly from an economic point of view, the day is looked forward to when every highway in Mississippi will be of concrete surface. This spells not only economy but means permanent roads. No public improvement could be more devoutly wished for. Next to good government, permanent highways mean for the very fundamentals of our prosperity and peace.

The Jackson Daily News, one of the many State papers championing the cause, recently carried an article of much interest along this line, and we reproduce excerpts therefrom not only for its constructiveness but for information contained therein.

"Mississippi's income," says The News, "from the gasoline tax last year was $5,563,288.94. Income from the auto privilege tax totaled $2,335,549.92. From the federal aid fund Mississippi received $1,240,901.30. Add these figures and you get a total of $9,129,630.16."

"Supposedly, all of this was spent for building and maintenance of roads. But where are the roads? We are paying for them at the rate of more than nine million dollars per year, but are we getting them? Not on your life! Highways in Mississippi are in worse shape today, generally speaking, than they were three years ago. Only in counties where paved roads have been built at local expense has there been material improvement."

"During the current year, with the gasoline tax increased from four to five cents per gallon, the total revenue collected for road purposes will be close to $12,000,000. What is being done with it? Are any paved highways being built at state expense? Not that you could notice. Aside from the little dribble apportioned from the federal aid fund, the state proper is not building highways."

"The state's pro rata of the gasoline and auto privilege tax is being expended in trying to maintain worn-out gravelled highways—throwing good money after bad. Is there cause to wonder, then, why there is such an earnest statewide demand to stop this waste and get down to business; that the people want to see the legislature show some common sense by adopting a practical and progressive highway building program."

OTHER PROBLEMS AT HAND

It certainly is reassuring to learn from Professor Millikan, of the California Institute of Technology, that when our sun burns out, in say a billion years from now, there will be another sun developed to take its place.

Well, the present population of the globe need not worry about that, whether or not. What is of more concern is our agitation to avoid future wars and the social problem, not yet tackled effectively, of how to care for orphan children.

It is all right for men to study the suns and the stars but there are problems under our noses, involving human nature as exemplified in everyday life that merit more immediate attention.

They are having quite a row in diplomatic and society circles in Washington as to where Mrs. Gann shall be placed at official dinners. Vice President Curtis is a widower and claims his sister is his official hostess, since she and her husband live with him, and has asked the Department of State to give her place. After it is settled where Mrs. Gann shall "sit," what about Mr. Gann? This in a democratic country has opera bouffe beaten to a frazzle!

Hoover's Home Economy.

Kahn Loses Titta Ruffo.

Foch Is Dead.

President Hoover, believing that economy should begin at home, will put the Presidential yacht Mayflower out of commission. The President will do his yachting in a rowboat when fishing. The country will save $300,000 a year, and 148 sailors that have wasted their time on the Mayflower will be assigned to new naval vessels.

The Mayflower has been added to the cost of maintaining a President ever since the days of Theodore Roosevelt, and President Hoover's determination to discontinue a thoroughly undemocratic arrangement will be generally appreciated.

The people would not grudge a good President any comfort or luxury. But a $300,000 yacht tacked on to a $75,000 salary seems fantastic.

George F. Baker dean of American bankers, ruler of the gigantic First National of New York, which is one of his minor possessions, has celebrated his eighty-ninth birthday. For every year that he has lived, Mr. Baker has given at least a million dollars to education and other good purposes.

Everybody wishes him many more years to get and give.

Since the people do not yet know enough to develop their own resources and supply what they have need, it is fortunate that they have such men as Baker, Rockefeller and others to show them how.

Otto H. Kahn, protector of grand opera, learns that his enemy is the talking moving picture. That must the seventy-foot dinosaurs when the surprise him as much as it surprised rats at them.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have taken Titta Ruffo from Mr. Kahn's Metropolitan Opera to sing for the movies, and it was as simple "as taking candy from a child."

Mr. Ruffo sings ten times before a recording machine and is paid $350,000, or $35,000 for each short singing period.

Even the Metropolitan's diamond horseshoe cannot compete with that.

Marshal Foch is dead. Farewell to a great warrior, a true man. He has gone and taken his wages—a name that will live in history and the eternal gratitude of his countrymen.

In command of all the allied armies, he had 10,000,000 men under his command, by far the greatest army gathered together since men first began wholesale killing.

And his motto, that every man should adopt, was: "THE OFFENSIVE ALWAYS."

Allons, "Let us go," was the last word uttered by Marshal Foch. It is the first word of the French national hymn that he heard so often, the hymn to which the Revolutionary soldiers marched from the south of France into Paris. "Allons enfants de la patrie," etc.

The last words of great men, piously collected, have little value. The great men probably did not know what they were saying. Mehr licht, "more light," were the last words of Goethe.

Frederick the Great's last words are supposed to be tete d'armee, "head of the army." He often spoke French in preference to German.

Pitt, whose genius kept Napoleon out of England, said as he died, "My country, how I leave thee." He was worried about the future.

What a man does while he lives is more important than what he says when he dies.

SUMMER IS HERE—ABSOLUTELY

Here is an absolute indication summer has arrived. Employees began to wonder about vacation schedules, summer furs appeared on Fifth avenue and iced tea on cafeteria counter as New York experienced Monday, the hottest April 8 on record.

At 3 p. m., after a steady climb from 77 to 92, the French government weather bureau thermometer registered 85, just one degree less than Sunday's April record of 86.

Topcoats were dropped Sunday too, men appearing in the lunchrooms at noon in their shirtsleeves and bareheaded. Taxicabs drove about with their tops down, and the roofs of the Fifth avenue busses were crowded. Proprietors of fruit and vegetable stores lowered their awnings for the first time since last summer.

There was one heat prostration.

LEVIATHAN TO PRIVATE HANDS

On the seventh anniversary of her last sailing as a military transport, the steamship Leviathan, which carried many thousands of American soldiers safely to France in 1917 and 1918, passed Monday out of the control of the United States government.

At a formal ceremony aboard the giant liner, as she lay at her dock in North river, a deed and check for $4,000,000 were exchanged whereby the United States shipping board and the American merchant lines became the property of the United States Lines, Inc., of which Paul W. Chapman is head.

There was a touch of sadness about the ceremony, a sentimental feeling for the ship, said a spokesman of the shipping board.

"The Leviathan has always been our flagship," he said as he received the check from Mr. Chapman. "She goes to sea with the full confidence of the shipping board that you will keep her up to the best standards of American shipping."

MUNSEY WEALTH SHOWN

A tax appraisal of the estate of Frank A. Munsey, New York publisher, who died December 23, 1925, was filed Monday of this week showing a gross estate of $23,434,634.29 and a net of $19,747,687.58. Deductions from the gross were $2,371,382.97 for funeral and administration expense and $1,315,563.74 for debts.

The will provided for specific legacies totalling $2,442,093.05, the residue of $17,305,594.53 going to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

One person was killed in this country last year for every 900 automobiles. Deaths from motor accidents averaged about 75 a day. Is there anyone who thinks this can't be helped by proper methods?

We hasten to call to public attention the fact that at the sale of certain magazines belonging to a bankrupt concern, recently held in New York, bids were received which assured all creditors of payment in full. This is what even Horace Greeley would call news.

THE Bell System is ever busy reducing the width of America and the distance between cities. For example, in the last five years 300 major improvements, as well as thousands of others whose aggregate importance mounts high, have been made in telephone central office equipment.

Improved operating practices have eliminated the necessity of your "hanging up" and being called back in 95 per cent of out-of-town calls, adding new speed and ease to your long distance service. You hold the wire and the operator does the rest.

Since New Year's Day, 1927, the average time for completing all out-of-town calls has been cut 35 per cent and at the same time the per cent of error has been further materially reduced.

There is no standing still in the Bell System. Better and better telephone service at the lowest cost is the goal. Present improvements constantly going into effect are but the foundation for the future's greater service.

SAUNDERS ON ADVERTISING

When a man like Clarence Saunders speaks on any subject with which he claims to be familiar he speaks with authority, indeed, because he is an outstanding man in this country, one of the men who "do things."

After one financial collapse he came back in two years to be a merchant prince who could write his check in millions.

In a word, he declares that he gets five times the results from a page of newspaper advertising than he gets from any other form of publicity. He uses newspapers only and will continue to do so according to a statement he made recently to "Editor and Publisher."

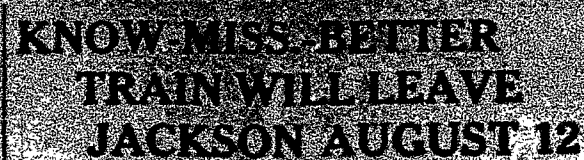

This statement is in part as follows: "My new company will stick to the same policy that I've always had, of using the newspapers of the country in building up the good will of the public for the stores, and in advertising what they have for sale.

"Newspaper advertising is instant in results and the local coverage is so much greater than any other medium that I think only of newspapers when I consider advertising."

"For each dollar expended I am convinced from my experience in merchandising that newspaper advertising will produce at least five times the results that can be obtained from a dollar expended in any other form or medium of advertising."

A man does not make millions with his bare hands. Knowledge is power. A man who has accomplished big things uses the means best adapted to the ends he has in view and, in the opinion of Clarence Saunders, there is no form of publicity that can take the place of the newspaper.—Macon News.

THE DESPERATE LOVER

and the air which floated in through the open lattice window was heavy with the perfume of flowers, mingled with the faint ozone of the sea. Outside, the placid silence was broken only by the murmurous buzzing of insects and the soft lapping of the tide upon the shingly sands. Within the room, a pale-faced girl knelt upon the floor, with her long, thin fingers clasped in prayer, her passionate despair of death in her cold, white features. The sunshine laughed upon her hair, and glanced around her, bathing her beautiful face in its fresh, bright glory. Was it an answer to her prayer, she wondered—her prayer for peace and forgiveness? Oh, that it might be so! God

Count Leonardo, Lord St. Maurice nods. Leonardo and the Englishman quarrel over the matter, then the Englishman challenges to a duel, then when the Italian slaps him consents. The two men face each other ready to fight to the death. But at the last moment the Englishman just in the nick of time to save the Englishman from his fate, with two officers who arrest him. Leonardo vows vengeance. After 25 years in jail he is again at his hotel, an old, broken man only memories to tell of his past.

At his hotel the proprietor, worried about him, advertised for his friends and Leonardo is first visited by the woman he loved, who has come to him in disguise. Then there comes to him the daughter of his sister, whom he grows to great surprise to find his sister is dead.

Count Leonardo tells his niece the story of his love for Adrienne. She is sympathetic.

There was no fear in her face, though only a moment before she had taken out and swallowed the contents of that little packet of poison which had burned in her bosom for those last few days. But there had been just one passing shade of bitterness. Her life had been so short, so joyless, until there had come to her that brief taste of wonderful, amazing happiness. She was young to die—to die with the delirium of that passionate joy still burning in her veins.

"Yet, after all, it is better," she whispered softly, at the end of that unspeakable agony and with those words of resignation, a change came

With a final effort he turned his head at the sound of footsteps, and saw that the woman whose wife he had shrunk little of the old man. But when at hand though they were, he could help him now. He saw the steel flashing in the sunlight, and he closed his eyes.

The knife descended, but Lord St. Maurice remained unhurt. With the swiftness which seemed almost incredible, the Sicilian had sprung between them, and the knife was quivering in his side. Behind, the lunatic was struggling helplessly in the grasp of three keepers.

There was a wild cry of horror

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

His withered figure seemed to have gained strength and dignity, and his appearance and tone, he gazed scornfully down at the girl at his feet, was full of a strange dramatic force. Her heart sank as she listened to him. This was no idle, vulgar passion, no morbid craving for evil, which animated him. It was a purpose which had become hallowed to him; something which he had come to look upon as his sacred right. She understood how her drawing back must seem to him. As though a flash of lightning had lit up his mind she saw how weak, how pitifully weak, any words of hers must sound, so she was silent.

He had commenced walking up and down the room; and, as waiting time was passing so that his manner was gradually changing: The unnatural calm into which he had momentarily relapsed was leaving him, and he was becoming every moment more and more excited. He flashed in and out of the room, his muttering broke

"Help! For God's sake, help!"

A woman's cry of agony rang out upon the sweet morning's stillness.

Count Marioni, who had been hurrying to the nearest beach, stood still in the cliff path and lifted his head. It was the woman whose memory he had crushed who stood before him—the woman on whom his vengeance was to fall.

He turned, as white as his own, and in the swiftness of her flight her catch the sound.

"Will you tell Margherita that this was the last I talked to her?" he heard a whisper from over the sea, and—the White Hyacinth forgives. I forgive. She will understand."

"Leonardo," she sobbed, "your vengeance—"

He interrupted her.

"This is my vengeance," he said. "I have kept my oath!"

A black and white illustration depicting a dramatic scene. In the foreground, a man in a dark coat and top hat (Lord Lumley) is being held back by a man in a military uniform (Lady Lumley). The man in uniform is shouting "HOLD!" and has his arm around Lord Lumley's shoulder. In the background, a man in a dark coat (the curio dealer) is running away. The scene is set outdoors with some foliage visible.

en words and sentences to himself. Once he raised his clasped hands to the roof in a threatening gesture, and in the act of doing so he saw the blue flash of a stiletto in his breast-pocket. It frightened her, and she moved toward the door.

It seemed almost as though he read her purpose in her terror-stricken face, and it maddened him. He turned away, and then, as though he hat had fallen away and her hair was streaming in the breeze. Yet in that moment of her awful fear she recognized him, and shrank back to the wall as he came. His upturned hand had passed her tongue, and laid a cold wet grip upon her heart. They stood face to face, breathless and speechless. A host of forgotten sensations, kindled by her appearance, thronged into his mind, and he saw in the Sicilian's heart the family in Sicily. "I had it from the late Count himself."

Lady Lumley sank into the little chair by the counter, holding the book tightly in her hand.

"What is the history?" she asked in a low tone.

"The man hesitated.

"If I do so," he said doubtfully, "will you promise to keep it absolutely secret?"

"You shall not leave this room, girl!" he cried. "Wait, and soon I will bring you news!"

She stood, still panting, overcome for a moment by the strength of his grief, and as she recovered, her head, he had caught up his hat and was gone. Outside, she heard the sound of a key in the lock. She was a prisoner!

Her first thought was the window. Alas! it was too small, even for her to look out. She thought she cried out. No one answered; there was no one to answer. She was alone in the cottage, and helpless, and away over the cliffs, toward Mallory Grange, she could see a small, dark figure, a man, standing on the cliff's edge, head and steady steps. The cottage stood by itself, a mile from the village, and was approached only by a cliff path. She turned away from the window in despair. It seemed to her that the time of her final sacrifice had indeed come.

It was a warm, drowsy morning, and she had been thinking of the man who had indeed loved this woman.

"Merciful God! to meet you here," she faltered. "You will help me?" Oh, you will help me? My husband is being murdered there on the cliff as I have escaped, rover, he has done so, save him, and you may strike me dead at your feet. It is I whom you should hate, no; him. Oh, come! Come, or it will be too late!

He stood quite still, looking at her curiously.

"What is it I to whom you dare to come for help—I whom you ask to save him—your husband? Adrienne, do you remember my words on the sands of Palermo?"

She wrung her hands, frantically imploring.

"How can I remember anything—think of anything, now? For the love of God, help him," she begged, seizing his hand. "That was all so long ago. You would not have him killed here before my eyes! Come! Oh, do come!"

"Lead the way," he answered sternly. "Call your loudest for other help."

"Well, then, I have told it to no one yet, but I will tell it to you. Many years ago I was a chemist, and among by customers was Count Leonardo di Marioni. His history was all so strange, and so full of mystery, I have heard of when he was quite a young man he was arrested on political charge, and imprisoned for five-and-twenty years—a cruel time. Well, scarcely more than twelve months ago he came to me here, and asked me to help him. I could not recognize him. Poor old gentleman, when he had talked for a while, I felt quite sure that his long confinement had affected his mind, and his errand with me made me sure of it. He said he had a beautiful poison which I used one time, to be secretly noted for, and I could tell from his manner that he wanted it for some fatal use. Well, I thought at first of refusing it altogether, but what was the use of that? Some day I would give him an equally powerful poison, and the mischief would be done all the same. So, after therefore ordered that warrant issue in the sum of $5801.61 payable to the Southern Paving Construction Company in the sum of $5801.61 out of the Road Protection Fund.

The said Commission having further certified as follows, to-wit:

A special meeting of the Road Protection Commission of the County of Los Angeles, California, was held on the 19th day of March, 1929, at ten o'clock A. M. R. C. Engman, to be held on Tuesday, March 19th, 1929, at ten o'clock A. M.

It was moved by R. J. Ladner, seconded by August Rühr and carried, that the defect and break of the wall, sidewalk and curb in front of the Catholic Church and Charles Thiels property needs immediate attention for the preservation of the road and to save great loss to the County. That the said work be done at once and the liability or responsibility for the defect, if any, in said wall, sidewalk and curb be investigated at some future date.

A little consideration. I made up quite an innocent powder, which might cause a little momentary faintness but it would do no permanent harm, and I gave it to him as the real thing. I couldn't take money for doing a thing like that, so he pressed this ring upon me. You see, it really 'has a history.'

After she took his wife's hand and pressed it tenderly. In the deep gloom of the shop the curio dealer could not see the tears which glistened in her dark eyes.

for the purpose of considering all things in connection with repairing and restoring the wall, sidewalk and curb in front of the Catholic Church and resident of Charles Thiel, in the town of Waveland, and do all things necessary for the purpose of immediately protecting and preserving the Francis H. wall and curb at that place. All of the members responded to the call. There being present, H. C. Engman, James W. Vairin, Harry R. J. Ladner, and August Nuhr. Absent none. The purpose of the meeting was stated and it was agreed by all that immediate repairing and restoring of the wall should be done at once. The cost of the same was estimated at $1000.00. It was moved by R. J. Ladner, seconded by Harry Nuhr and carried that the Southern Paving Construction Company is now doing some road protection work for this commission and of the Catholic Church and Charles Thiel's residence at and for the actual cost to them, the Southern Paving Company, The Commission and County to be responsible for all cost, and work to begin at once. It is agreed and ordered that the offer of the Southern Paving Company. The Commission and County to be responsible for all cost, and work to begin at once.

"We will have the ring!" Lord Lumley said, taking a note form his pocket-book and handing it across the table.

The man held it up to the light. "One hundred pounds," he remarked. "I shall owe your lordship money."

Lord Lumley shook his head. "No, Signor Paschuli, you owe me nothing; it is I who owe you a wife. Come, Margharita, let us go out into the sunshine again."

And Signor Paschuli kept the note. But he has come to the conclusion that all Englishmen traveling on their honeymoon are mad.

GUIDEPOSTS TO Health and Happiness

By Bernarr Macfadden

Are you one of the great army of workers who go forth from their homes each morning, ride in a stuffy train to their offices where they sit for hours at a desk—cramped over a ledger or typewriter or factory machine? Man was not meant to abuse his body in that fashion, and yet, in our present form of civilization, it is unavoidable.

Then what are you doing to ward off the dangers of such a life?

One of the first things you should do is to pay attention to your carriage. The importance of mail is not overestimated—especially in the case of girls, among whom the consequences of poor carriage are more serious than in the case of young men. The human body is built along such lines that it functions efficiently only when it is held erect. Any deviation from this correct posture inevitably leads to disorders endangering the entire body.

The first essential to an erect carriage is a high degree of vitality and vigor, particularly in the back muscles, for they are directly concerned in maintaining the normal position of the spinal column. If you are in the habit of slouching in your chair, use a stiff, straight-backed chair while you work; sit well back in it so that it lies along your back, and throw your chest out. Get the habit and you will feel of sitting up straight and you will soon do it subconsciously.

When standing or walking, keep the upper part of your body erect. If you take long, deep breaths, you will naturally fall into this position. When walking, take long, graceful strides. Why not walk to work? If the distance is too far you certainly can walk part way, and even though it means rising a bit earlier in the morning, you will be well repaid in increased mental and physical energy. It builds endurance to an enormous extent and is one of the best ways there is to counteract the evil effects of a confining job.

At lunch time, don't scurry into some basement cafeteria or restaurant where, because you feel hungry, you order a lunch that would be too heavy even for a laboring man. Order simple, easily digested foods—green vegetables and milk with some fruit of desert. Eat slowly and masticate your food thoroughly; be as leisurely about your eating as time will allow.

And then, when you have finished the meal, don't sit around the table and gossip with the office worker next to you until your lunch hour is gone. Get up and get out into the air and walk. If you are near a playground or park—so much the better. But exercises taken in the heart of a business district is better than no exercise at all.

It clears your brain of cobwebs, helps you to reason things out more logically and sensibly, and gives you a chance to maintain that standard of health that you must have in order to be a desirable citizen.

UNSAFE SAFETY

Five weeks ago Sherrow Davis of Columbus was married. Last week he was showing friends a revolver, demonstrating the efficacy of its safety catch. Said he, "It can't shoot with this safety on." But it shot, killed him.

WEALTHY FISH

The fact that a fish has money will not keep him out of the skillet at Edgewater Gulf Hotel. Chef John Gilbert, cleaning a Spanish Mackerel, had just caught in the Gulf, found a $5 bill entangled in its gills. John thanked his fish, fried him.

SWEET ACCIDENT

Sweeter than honey, last week were the waters of First Bayou, near Henderson Point. Bitter as gall was a New Orleans truck driver. On his first trip to Mississippi, the driver had attempted to cross an abandoned bridge, fell through with truck, trailer, and 3,500 pounds of sugar.

LOST PARSON

On Sundays for many a month, Preacher F. F. Coggin has admonished Methodists from a Pheba pulpit. On week days he has dished out change and cash from the cage of Pheba's bank. Recently he went to West Point to swap big bills for more change and cash. Neither Methodist nor bankers have seen him since.

FATE

Robert Johnson killed a man, got himself in the pen. Last week from the governor's office came a suspension. Robert thought it was fate, found later it was a mistake. The suspension was intended for another man. Johnson was re-caught, returned.

UNARMED

HELPFUL MATE

A husband in need is a husband indeed. So reasoned Mrs. W. L. King as she watched her mate tussle with a bootlegger. Seeing him about to be worsted she got his shotgun, waited till he turned the legger round her way, helped out with a load of bird-shot.

ROCKY EXPERIENCE

Pugilistic Angus Wills, Hattiesburg threw a tiny rock with all his three-year-old might at Russell Phillips, 11. Much offended, Russell replied with a 12-pound block of concrete. Neither shot found its mark, but Russell received a $5 fine, a severe reprimand from a county court.

BAD BREAK

Into Laurel drove a man from Alabama who complained loudly that he had been driving terribly hard, but seemed unable to get anywhere. While he talked his car burst into flames. Firemen found he had been driving with his brakes set tight, was ignorant of the trouble.

FROM JERSEY

Arch Dalrymple of Amory runs no risk of buying counterfeit dairy cows. So anxious is he that his Jerseys be genuine that he has them shipped straight from the Island of Jersey. Last week he received his second shipment.

ECHOES OF WEEK FROM ST. STANISLAUS COLLEGE

Bro. Regis has formed his baseball league and the first game will be played this coming Tuesday. Six teams will play in the league.

Bro. Conrad is replacing the Junior baseball backstop which was removed last winter, to facilitate the cutting down of the large oak tree that stood there. The leagues in the Junior Department are being formed now and should start playing baseball soon.

The College boys attended the dance given by the St. Margaret's Daughters at the Weston Hotel last Saturday evening. Everyone enjoyed the dance immensely. We thank the ladies for the evening.

The College boys returned last Tuesday to begin their last lap of school this term. Very few boys were absent for the roll call, and those few are back now.

During the past three weeks former grads visited their Alma Mater: Richard Meltem, '21; Sam Gernig, '22; Wilson Lipine, '12.

The Baseball Leagues under the direction of Bro. Regis started Tuesday. Six teams are entered in the pennant race which will continue until the last week of school. Each man on the winning team will be given a pennant. An all-star team of nine men will also be picked, each member to receive a medal. The respective captains of the teams are: Valets, L. Petrich and F. Johnson. P. Wilson, T. Posner, J. Hughes, T. Everyone is cordially invited to attend the games which will be held on the College Campus.

The baseball season opens Sunday with the Rock-a-Chaws meeting McGill Institute of Mobile. With a squad of twenty good men to pick from we should get off to a flying start.

The track team is being rounded into for m now under Coach Phillips. Stanislaus has a fine track team this year and the chances are that they will enter the A. A. U. Meet at Loyola on May 10th.

An Oklahoma Mother Says:

"BLACK-DRAUGHT is a fine medicine to give to children. I have given it to mine whenever I need to give them a laxative. They don't mind taking it when I make it into a tea, and it quickly relieves constipation and the bad symptoms which come from it. I can recommend it to other mothers, for I have found it useful in my home."

"When I was a child my mother gave it to me whenever I complained of not feeling well. I have always taken it for upset stomach and constipation. It is the only medicine I have taken. A few doses of Black-Draught, now and then, keep my system in order. My husband takes it, too. I hardly see how I could keep house without Black-Draught. It has become a standard in keeping the children and ourselves well."

CHRISTIAN ZEAL ALONE MARKS ORDER OF KING'S DAUGHTERS

Paper Delivered By Mrs. C. C. McDonald, of Bay St. Louis, At Gulfport.

The following is a paper delivered by Mrs. C. C. McDonald, of this city, at the conference of the Gulf Coast Group of King's Daughters and Sons, held at Gulfport a few days since, received with unanimous acclaim as one of the best of the several excellent addresses delivered:

The purpose of the King's Daughters organization, as stated in the constitution, is the development of spiritual life and the stimulating of Christian activity. I believe I am correct in stating that the group of women who banded together and called themselves King's Daughters were the first interdenominational group to organize for such a purpose.

Let us consider the advantages of the joining together of the various denominations. In larger cities as New Orleans for example, we find a Baptist Hospital, a Presbyterian Hospital, Hotel Dieu, Touro, Charity and so on. But in smaller cities and towns, individual churches have not the means nor the strength to build hospitals or support clinics. By a union of workers from all denominations, however, this has been accomplished many, many times.

In doing charity work, caring for the poor, etc., each church does its share but there is a duplication of effort and also there are cases which do not come to the attention of the church. We are all familiar with the professional beggar who tells the same story to every organization in town and should not be encouraged. We have all of us, I'm sure, had people appeal to us for help and wondered whether they were worthy and we have been in honest doubt as to what we should do. King's Daughters organization investigates these cases and where help should be given, they give a more intelligent aid.

In the ages past when the various denominations came in to being each group arose to witness to some truth which had been obscured. But the present situation reveals the fact that the vital things for which each of the great communions stands are now the vital things for all communions. Christian deal and devotion and religious liberty owe much to these early leaders but their principles are no longer distinctively Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian or Congregational. Unstinted gratitude for the blessings which the controversies of former generations have brought does not require us to fight over again the battles of the past. Each communion has now succeeded in so indelibly ingraining common Christianity with its essential message that there is no longer necessity for it to stand apart in order for it to be loyal to its historic position.

One of the essential teachings of the New Testament is the sacrifice of self for the good of all. A man or woman who can glory in the success of an individual, a church, or an undertaking other than his own, is ready to talk cooperation. We prove the divinity of Christ not by separating from each other but by putting love into cooperative action as Jesus himself did. The watchword of today is not competition but cooperation in business, in education, in our churches, and all lines of endeavor.

Such a gospel of love must have its outlet in service. Consequently philanthropy, high education, temperance and care of the sick are the results of the teaching and preaching of the church. In the parable of Jesus where He was describing the last judgment He said they would inherit the kingdom who fed the hungry, cared for the strangers, clothed the needy and visited the sick. For two thousand years the church has been interested in the physical as well as the spiritual needs of mankind.

I do not believe the present generation has the scars of sectarianism or the narrowness and bitter feeling with which many of our parents and grand-parents were imbued. We

The Careless Letter Writers

(Editorial in St. Paul Pioneer Press.)

The American public was 8.5 per cent less careless or inaccurate about addressing its mail in 1928 than in 1927. Even so, the annual report of Postmaster General New shows that 23,649,044 letters went to the dead letter office in 1928.

Of course not all of these letters went astray because of carelessness or illegibility of addressing. In many cases misdirection of mail is unavoidable because addresses have moved, leaving no trace. But letters need not be condemned to hopeless wandering, ending finally in the dead letter office for that reason. If senders will only place a return address on the envelope their mail can be spared the humiliation of such an inglorious death. Indeed the Postal department attributes the improved showing of last year to its campaign to induce the public to give return addresses.

How much carelessness there does exist in the addressing of mail, however, can be appreciated from the fact that many of these dead letters contain money. Cash and currency found in dead letters amounted in 1928 to nearly $100,000, and the nominal value of drafts, money orders and checks contained was well over five millions.

—Mr. C. A. Breath, proprietor of the Breath's Haberdashery, was a visitor to New Orleans during the week, in further interest of the fine and attractive line of goods he is offering for spring and summer. "Junior" says, "If you wish it, we have it."

—Many local friends of Mrs. Walter J. Gex, Jr., will learn with satisfaction of her return from Tours Infirmary, New Orleans, where she successfully underwent a tonsillar operation, thereby removing a point of infection that menaced her health.

—Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Blaize, Miss Julia Blaize and Master John B. Blaize composed a family party of motorists to Mobile Sunday, visiting at Spring Hill College in particular, where Mr. Blaize is acquainted with some of the fathers of the faculty.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Herlihy, the former assistant at the Bay St. Louis postoffice, have leased part of the spacious and inviting A. R. Hart dwelling in Main street, where they are both cozy and charmingly domiciled.

—Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Thomas of Carroll avenue had as their week-end guests the following: Miss Hilda Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fengel, Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Holzer, A. J. and Mrs. C. Kern, J. Frey, Mr. and Mrs. T. Echert, Miss B. Eckert.

—Among those from Bay St. Louis enjoying the convention last week in Gulfport of the Mississippi Federation of Music Clubs were Mrs. H. U. Canty, a member of the Philharmonic Society in Gulfport, the hostess club. Mrs. Canty was a member of several committees which planned and executed the convention.

Pitcher plan to leave Saturday morning, before the sun peeps over the eastern horizon, for a motor trip to Baton Rouge, La., where they will visit friends, and also Mrs. Pitcher's sister, known in religion as Sister Lucilla. They will be accompanied by Miss Louise Armstrong.

—County Assessor, E. Van Whitfield and City Commissioner Ferdinand H. Egloff, in charge of assessments and tax-collectors, are making their annual rounds of assessment, going from house to house, a task by no means easy. They are very painstaking and accurate, and their uniform courtesy and attention is noted.

—Miss Alcide Ladner, chief operator and office manager of the Bay St. Louis telephone exchange, left Tuesday of this week for a two weeks' vacation. She will visit her sister, Mrs. F. C. Roemer of New Orleans, and later Miss Ladner will go to Hattiesburg for a visit with her brother, D. L. Ladner.

—Dr. Jack Lynn, federal veterinarian, has returned from a pleasant week-end visit to friends in Montgomery.

—Mrs. H. U. Canty had as her guest Tuesday, Miss Elaine Edison of Gulfport, who attended the meeting of the Congregational Nine at Mrs. Canty's home.

—Rev. R. C. Grubb, rector Christ Episcopal Church, left Sunday noon for McComb, his former home town, to visit and attend business, attending quarterly meeting Board of Directors of a bank at that place, of which he is a member of the directorate. Mr. Grubb made the trip in his new Ford coupe and reports a most pleasant journey to and fro.

—Mr. Joseph Pravata, leading citizen and business man of the city of Slidell, slightly over the Louisiana-Mississippi line, came over by bus Wednesday morning to mingle with friends and also visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Scalfide and children in Main street. Mr. Pravata was a former resident of the Bay City and marvels at the improvement of the best town in the State when ever he visits.

—The Hancock County Bank, with its characteristic enterprise for civic beautification has caused to be demolished at Pass Christian the former postoffice and office building on the beach front, opposite its bank properties. The huge frame building seems to have served its purpose, and was not only a possible fire hazard, but according to the code of the bank's way of doing business, unsightly, so down it came. The Echo learns the vacant space will be converted into a park, in keeping with the beauty of the city and especially its handsome bank building, which adorns the entire Coast.

—Through the instrumentality of efforts of J. N. Wisner, one of the Bay-Waveland district's best and most substantial boosters, a party of some twenty-odd tourists returning from St. Augustine and en route to their homes in San Antonio, were invited to stop at Bay St. Louis and did visit here, all registering at the Hotel Weston. The Hotel Weston has no booster more ardent and conscientious than J. N. Wisner and a little more of that spirit by others, if we be pardoned for making the suggestion, would prove of mutual benefit. We think the Hotel Weston is the best on the Coast!

—Recent announcement is to the effect John T. McDonald, resident of Pass Christian, and equally well known in Bay St. Louis, was appointed as State building inspector, for which position he at once qualified and entered upon its respective duties over the State. We understand the salary is $300.00 per month, every cent and every moment will be honestly and most conscientiously earned by "honest John." No better appointment could have been made, even after ramifying the entire State.

—Ellis P. Sylvester, son of Mrs. Sudie Sylvester and the late W. O. Sylvester, of this city, was elected this week principal of the Pascagoula High School, succeeding J. O. Box, resigned. The Sea Coast Echo notes the success of our native-born son with more than ordinary interest, in fact, we do so with a special pride. Ellis was educated at the Bay St. Louis city schools, graduated from St. Stanislaus College, then four years at A. & M. Native ability and talent has fitted him most admirably; to a point where his services have received signal recognition. For the past two years he taught at Webb, Miss. He will assume his new trust during the early part of this semester.

—The Echo regrets to note the death of Mrs. C. A. Forstner, who passed away suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Wolbrette, in Rendon street, New Orleans, the latter part of last week. Death was the result of one of three strokes she had sustained within a short period. Mrs. Forstner was a resident of Bay St. Louis, owning her home on the beach boulevard, near Citizen street, and spent part of each winter the last two or three years visiting her daughter. She had been here only a few days previously. Bay St. Louis had no better friend and booster and she best demonstrated this fact by the fact of the investments she had made here from time to time in realty.

—At a recent meeting of the Board of Supervisors the sum of $3,000 was appropriated to repair the "cave in" on the new south Beach Boulevard, opposite the Thiel and church property, which work is already in progress by the Southern Paving Company, and under the auspices of Hancock County Road Commission, of which R. C. Engman is president. The break, after due investigation having been made, was by no means the cause of inferior workmanship or that someone was asleep on the job, as might be inferred, but from natural causes due to malformation of soil. That the work was promptly taken in time and defects for possible future breaks at this point remedied, is to be commended.

—Miss Alcide Ladner, chief operator and office manager of the Bay St. Louis telephone exchange, left Tuesday of this week for a two weeks' vacation. She will visit her sister, Mrs. F. C. Roemer of New Orleans, and later Miss Ladner will go to Hattiesburg for a visit with her brother, D. L. Ladner.

—Dr. Jack Lynn, federal veterinarian, has returned from a pleasant week-end visit to friends in Montgomery.

—Mrs. H. U. Canty had as her guest Tuesday, Miss Elaine Edison of Gulfport, who attended the meeting of the Congregational Nine at Mrs. Canty's home.

—Rev. R. C. Grubb, rector Christ Episcopal Church, left Sunday noon for McComb, his former home town, to visit and attend business, attending quarterly meeting Board of Directors of a bank at that place, of which he is a member of the directorate. Mr. Grubb made the trip in his new Ford coupe and reports a most pleasant journey to and fro.

—Mr. Joseph Pravata, leading citizen and business man of the city of Slidell, slightly over the Louisiana-Mississippi line, came over by bus Wednesday morning to mingle with friends and also visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Scalfide and children in Main street. Mr. Pravata was a former resident of the Bay City and marvels at the improvement of the best town in the State when ever he visits.

—Through the instrumentality of efforts of J. N. Wisner, one of the Bay-Waveland district's best and most substantial boosters, a party of some twenty-odd tourists returning from St. Augustine and en route to their homes in San Antonio, were invited to stop at Bay St. Louis and did visit here, all registering at the Hotel Weston. The Hotel Weston has no booster more ardent and conscientious than J. N. Wisner and a little more of that spirit by others, if we be pardoned for making the suggestion, would prove of mutual benefit. We think the Hotel Weston is the best on the Coast!

—Recent announcement is to the effect John T. McDonald, resident of Pass Christian, and equally well known in Bay St. Louis, was appointed as State building inspector, for which position he at once qualified and entered upon its respective duties over the State. We understand the salary is $300.00 per month, every cent and every moment will be honestly and most conscientiously earned by "honest John." No better appointment could have been made, even after ramifying the entire State.

—Ellis P. Sylvester, son of Mrs. Sudie Sylvester and the late W. O. Sylvester, of this city, was elected this week principal of the Pascagoula High School, succeeding J. O. Box, resigned. The Sea Coast Echo notes the success of our native-born son with more than ordinary interest, in fact, we do so with a special pride. Ellis was educated at the Bay St. Louis city schools, graduated from St. Stanislaus College, then four years at A. & M. Native ability and talent has fitted him most admirably; to a point where his services have received signal recognition. For the past two years he taught at Webb, Miss. He will assume his new trust during the early part of this semester.
